ORIGINALE 02 – the Porsche Classic catalogue

Dear reader,

My career as a factory driver at Porsche started in 1971 in the 917, and I've owned my own Porsche in a private capacity for almost that long. So I'm probably one of the few people who has first-hand experience of Porsche's development both on the road and on the race track.

In my first year driving in group C for Porsche, drivers were allowed to choose a car for private use. I opted for the 928 S. At Christmas, however, Professor Bott surprised us by announcing that we could choose between the 924 Carrera GTS or the GTR. I chose the GTS, because I couldn't imagine my wife wanting to wear a six-point seatbelt over one of her posh evening dresses. The GTS had some serious power under its sleek bonnet, and I was proud to own it. We were on the Circuit Paul Ricard for the first major test for the 956 when the car was delivered. It was an impressive sight with its gleaming white-wall tyres. That night I drove home, bypassing Dijon at 240 km/h at two in the morning in the rain – the city looked magical. It was an unforgettable moment. I went on to drive all over Europe in the GTS, and it was also used in a few races. I've owned the car since 1982 and I've had some work done on it by Porsche Classic. It is a wonderful car, and I drive it whenever I get the chance.

The unique level of support that Porsche provides to its loyal customers is legendary. The difference is in the details – regardless of whether you drive one of these fantastic cars on the race track, or are simply a proud Porsche owner. The fact that 70 percent of all Porsche cars ever made are still on the road today speaks volumes about the quality of the product and the exceptional German engineering behind it. In recent years, Porsche has invested a great deal of energy in the development of Porsche Classic, to provide owners all over the world with the highest level of service and first-class spare parts.

I've been lucky enough to attend events like the Oldtimer Grand Prix at the Nürburgring, Le Mans Classic and, of course, Goodwood, as well as many other classic car events all over the world, with the Porsche Classic team, and I've seen first-hand how passionate they are about sharing their expertise. I feel secure in the knowledge that I can entrust my own classic Porsche to a team of true experts, regardless of where I am in the world.

It's true what they say: it really is special to be a part of the Porsche family.
